SUPREME COURT GRANTS APPEAL IN KLAFF CASE

Will Review Injunction Restraining Him From Entering Certain Lines of Business.

MANY WRITS ARE DENIED

Judge Clarence W. Coleman's Petition That His Salary Be Not Increased Is Refused—Several Cases Argued and Submitted.

The State Supreme Court of Appeals yesterday granted an appeal and supercedens in the case of Isaac Klaff vs. Dwight M. Pratt, which comes from the Law and Chancery Court of Norfolk. An injunction was granted by the court in Norfolk restraining Klaff from engaging in the hide, skin, fur and wool business in that city, and within a radius of five miles, for a period of five years, on representations made by Pratt, who claims to hold a contract under the terms of which Klaff is prohibited from engaging in such business within the territory specified except as a partner of Pratt, or with Pratt's consent.

The Supreme Court refused writs of error in the following cases: C. W. Coleman vs. County of Norfolk. In this case Judge Coleman, elected to the circuit bench by the last General Assembly, petitioned that his salary be not increased from $2,500 to $4,500. The case was argued in the Law and Chancery Court of Norfolk, where it was decided that the salary must remain at $4,500. Judge Coleman then applied for a writ of error, which was denied by the Supreme Court.

Clark County Construction Company vs. County of Wise, a road case. Appealed from the Circuit Court of Wise. James N. Payne vs. Laura W. Payne, divorce proceedings. Appealed from Chancery Court of Roanoke.

George E. Traubman and Julia P. Traubman vs. County of Henrico condemnation proceedings. Appealed from the Circuit Court of Henrico County. Patrick Hagan vs. E. H. Howe and Thomas H. Fox, an Circuit Court of Good Hope County action in assumpsit, involving $1,000.

Lewis H. Snel vs. Commonwealth, race-track gambling case. Appealed from the Circuit Court of Norfolk County.

Emma J. Waller and others vs. J. C. Chichester, administrator of Charles S. Waller. Appeal from Circuit Court of Fredericksburg; a will case involving an estate worth $3,000.

S. Isabel Hagen vs. J. H. Corbett. Appeal from Circuit Court of city of Suffolk; action of debt involving $2,551.

Grover Breeden vs. Commonwealth, From Circuit Court of Dinwiddie County. Breeden was convicted of the murder of William Frazier, and was sentenced to serve ten years in the penitentiary.

Green vs. Edgar R. English and O'Leary & Fulton. Appealed from Law and Equity Court of Richmond; action in assumpsit, growing out of a suit prosecuted against Wickham & Breeden, prior to his arrest by the Passenger and Power Company, in which Green was awarded a verdict and judgment for $5,000. The case was reversed on appeal. It was alleged that the petition was not filed in time, and Green charged his attorneys with negligence, entering the suit against them, which he lost.

Cases were argued and submitted yesterday as follows: Privilege docket: No. 2, Walter's executor vs. Tre-Font et al., argued by L. F. Hancock and W. A. Becking and Mr. Walker for the appellant, and by Judge L. T. W. Duke for the appellee, and submitted. Argument docket: No. 1, Halston vs. Halston. Submitted.

No. 2, City of Norfolk vs. Southern Railway Company. Argued by S. S. Field for the appellant, and by R. B. Tunstall and Judge D. Tucker for the appellee, and continued until Monday.

Next cases to be called: No. 3, Steinbach vs. Steinbach et al., vs. Jones et al.

No. 4, City Council of Alexandria vs. Alexandria County, etc.

No. 5, Grant, surviving executor et al., vs. Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company.

Lipford Again Arrested. J. S. Lipford was arrested yesterday in the Circuit Court by Deputy United States Marshal Harrison on a charge of violating the white slave law. In the Federal office, Lipford was released on $1,000 bail for appearance on November 11. Two days later he will be arraigned before Commissioner Flegenheimer on the other charges.

WILL RETAIN EXPERTS TO EXAMINE NEW RATES

Committee of Light Users to Seek Information From Unbiased Sources.

MOVE IS NOT ANTAGONISTIC

Proposed Changes May Be Entirely Reasonable, Say Committeemen. Then Again They May Not Be. Will Make Comparison.

Legal and scientific advice will be retained by a special committee representing large users of light and power to ascertain whether the proposed schedule filed by the Virginia Railway and Power Company with the State Corporation Commission is a proper one. The committee appointed at a recent conference of light and power users is composed of W. T. Selden (chairman), L. H. Jenkins, Christian Clarke, Moses Thalhimer and T. Crockett Jordan. It held its initial meeting yesterday afternoon.

The Virginia Railway and Power Company has filed with the State Corporation Commission an application to increase its rates for light and power charges, amounting what is known as the "block system," which, it is stated, is more equitable in its nature. The company states that the new rates will be a substantial reduction for a very large number of small users of light and power, and only in a small percentage of the classifications will there be an increase.

SEEK INFORMATION FROM UNBIASED SOURCES

It was stated after the meeting yesterday that the committee will begin its work in any antagonistic sense. For all it has learned up to this time the new rates may be eminently fair and proper. On the other hand, it may be too high. Therefore, the committee has decided to call in the advice of experts and to gather data from unbiased sources as to the actual charges for light and power in other cities of the same general conditions as Richmond. It also proposed to find out whether the proposed "block system" of charges is the most equitable for the users of light and power.

It is conceded by members of the committee that there are inequalities in the present rates. It is the purpose to see that Richmond gets a wholly equitable schedule and that the average charge here compares favorably with other cities.

Two years ago when the Richmond and Henrico Railway Company was arguing before the City Council for a competitive franchise, after an investigation lasting several months, it was made to concede that the rates here were as low as in other American cities similarly situated.

Verdict for Defendant. Verdict and judgment in favor of the defendant were returned yesterday in the Law and Equity Court in the suit of W. E. Pickels against John Taylor W. Curtis.

Suit Instituted. Suit was instituted in the City Circuit Court yesterday by Sophia Gorsuch against the Virginia Railway and Power Company for $3,500. There was no declaration.

No Lecture at Temple. Owing to a change in the plans, there will be no lecture at Beth Abrahah Synagogue to-morrow night, as has been previously announced.

MAY ERECT PARCEL POST BUILDING

Failure to Come to Terms With Owners of Adjoining Property Starts New Project.

POST-OFFICE OVERCROWDED

Congressman Montague Thinks Appropriation Is Only Available for Annex.

If Treasury officials and owners of the property adjoining the Federal building fail to come to terms, it is highly probable that the government will be forced to abandon its present plan to erect an annex to relieve the congestion in the post-office quarters. In that event the appropriation of $450,000 made by Congress early last summer to purchase the site will be unavailable, and a movement must be started to secure funds with which to acquire ground upon which to erect another building somewhere else.

It is unquestionably true that the present building is too small to care for the business expected to handle. This was recognized by a Congressional committee, and it was recommended that the money to purchase the site adjoining the building be appropriated with the view of erecting an annex upon it. After a hard fight in both houses, Congress finally appropriated the sum of $450,000 for that express purpose.

PRICE IS A HURDLE FOR ADJOINING PROPERTY

Treasury officials were sent here to view the proposed site, and to confer with the owners. A price of $600,000 was set upon the property, and this has now jumped to $812,500, which is considered prohibitive. As told several weeks ago in the local press, Postmaster May T. Thornton accompanied the officials on an inspection tour, when five other sites were inspected. When recommendation of the committee made on its return to Washington, but it is more than probable that negotiations will be called off, and the department will recommend that a separate building be erected for the exclusive use of the post-office, and the present structure be used only for department offices. Such a recommendation, however, will meet with the local situation, as it will be necessary to again carry the fight for an appropriation through Congress.

Postmaster Thornton last night stated that he was aware of the hitch in the plans, and that there was some prospect of another building being erected in the area future.

ALREADY RENTING OFFICES ON OUTSIDE

"The price put on the property adjoining the present building," he said, "is entirely too steep for our purposes, and we have no prospect of the owners meeting half way. It is recognized clearly by everyone that we are badly hampered by lack of space, and it may be necessary for us to purchase the site adjoining the present building, and the money would not be available for any other use. The bill will, of course, show that, but I believe we can get the money on one or two other lines."

On this latter point, Congressman A. J. Montague, who introduced the bill through Congress, seemed doubtful when seen last night.

"It is my impression that the appropriation was for the specific purpose of purchasing the site adjoining the present building, and the money would not be available for any other use. The bill will, of course, show that, but I believe we can get the money on one or two other lines."

WANT PARCEL POST BUILDING AT STATION

Persons studying the local situation are impressed with the fact that the present post-office, while suitable located from a business standpoint, is not adapted to its present uses. It is poorly arranged for light and ventilation, and is too far removed from railway center. The proper move, many well informed business men believe, is to have a parcel post building erected elsewhere, in close proximity to the railroad, where the bulky matter could be handled. Richmond is both a railway mail terminal and a parcel post terminal, and it is considered a waste of valuable time and a needless expense to have this mail and parcel post building only to be sorted and sent away again.

Many other cities have already had such arrangements made. Philadelphia, for example, has a parcel post building more than a mile away from the central office. Of course, parcels can still be mailed at the main building, but the bulk is handled in the new one, which has such an arrangement, and the new Washington post-office is close to the Union Station.

The Federal Building is occupied by the offices of the Internal Revenue Department, the custom-house, United States Circuit Court, United States District Court, and a number of other government offices. Although only in use two years, it is too small, and several offices have been rented elsewhere.

A. Blaine Blair heads a syndicate which controls the property fronting on Main Street adjoining the post-office. The Central interests control the building, and it has been frequently asserted that the owners intend to erect a twenty-two-story skyscraper on the site.

ASK HOUSEHOLDERS TO AID AUTHORITIES

Should Get Ready To-day for Removal of Trash on Monday.

WILL REDUCE FIRE HAZARD

Not Only in Private Homes, but in Churches, Schools and Halls, Clearing of Waste From Basements Is Strongly Urged.

Richmond people can accomplish a two-fold purpose next week by cleaning up their premises. The first result will be to make the city a spotless town, but the second and most important will be the reduction of the fire hazard by having all trash which has accumulated during the spring and summer months hauled away. The cleanup campaign will last four days, and the heavy brunt of the fight will fall upon the Street Cleaning Department. To insure success, every citizen, property holder, or custodian of public buildings, is urged to see that his part of the work is done. Clutter upon the trash, observe the carefully compiled rules of common sense, and the city will benefit thereby.

The campaign will begin on Monday morning, when the entire facilities of the Street Cleaning Department will be utilized. Household refuse in the first district will be hauled away on Monday, and be ready for the accumulation of the trash carts early Monday morning. The wagons will operate as follows: Monday—From all houses located between Second and Third Streets, First Street and the Boulevard.

Tuesday—From all houses between First and Fourteenth Streets, Leigh Street and the river.

Wednesday—From all houses east of Fourteenth Street.

Thursday—From all other houses in the city.

MAJOR CALLS FOR GENERAL CO-OPERATION

Mayor Ansie has called upon every citizen to co-operate in the cleanup campaign and fire prevention fight. He urges them to have all stoves, furnaces, pipes, chimneys and fire connections carefully examined, cleaned and repaired before being used. Housewives are asked to clean all rooms, closets, cellars and attics of the accumulated waste, trash and rubbish. The trash is to be put into receptacles and placed near the back gates. The request is as possible. It will greatly facilitate the work of the department if this one rule is observed.

"Our average annual fire loss for ten years prior to 1913, was $220,000, or 68 cents per capita, one of the lowest in the United States in cities of our class and larger. It was last year that we had the cleanup campaign and an excellent record was made. Was the small loss a coincidence, or was it cause and effect?"

Superintendent Cohn, of the Street Cleaning Department, said last night that he would put every available man on the job next week.

"We see the value of the campaign, and are anxious to have the people gather up their trash in this way. It means less work for our men next week, but its result will be seen during the next few months. I only request that care be taken to have the trash and rubbish in receptacles as near the back gate as possible. It will greatly facilitate the work of the department if this one rule is observed."

FAIL FINES USUALLY ORIGINATE IN TRASH

The value of a general cleanup campaign is recognized by the fire officials, and they are urging the work to be carried on. Chief Joyner has instructed the inspectors in the business district to impress the importance of clean premises on the concerns visited.

"We find it much simpler to light fires where the premises are orderly and free from trash. It is my experience that some of the most dangerous fires occur in those places where the refuse is piled up, and waste material. Not only does rubbish create a fire hazard, but it also creates a fire hazard for the firemen, but it is almost trash that does the fire's original work."

There is also the sanitary view of the question to be considered. It can not be doubted that clean premises help prevent the spread of disease. Chief Health Officer Levy and his assistants never miss an opportunity to drive this point home.

In order to derive the benefits that may be had by the adoption of effective measures against fire, and save property loss, inconvenience and distress, there is no better way, in the opinion of experts, than the cleanup proposition.

HONORS REQUISITION

Val Lyle Bumgardner Taken Back to Kansas to Face Trial.

Val Lyle Bumgardner, arrested in Hampton a few days ago on the charge of being a fugitive from justice from Cloud County, Kan., was taken back to the description on which Bumgardner was apprehended is wanted for criminal assault, was surrendered yesterday afternoon by Governor Stuart to Carl Moore, the sheriff of Cloud County, who came to Richmond with a requisition from Governor George H. Hodges, of Kansas.

Governor Stuart has refused to surrender to the Pennsylvania authorities Jean La Motte, the Roanoke real estate man, who was arrested on a warrant charging him with the larceny of a diamond ring, valued at $150, the property of Corn Sonnenmacher, of Allentown, Pa. La Motte resisted extradition successfully, setting forth the plea that the prosecution was a pretext to extort money from him.

Memorial Service Postponed. Owing to the illness of Bishop Randolph, the memorial service to the late Rev. William Meade Clark, former rector of St. James Episcopal Church, which was to have been held to-morrow, has been indefinitely postponed.

MORE THAN 800 HAVE UNITED WITH CHURCHES

Simultaneous Services in Baptist Congregations to Close With Mass-Meeting To-morrow.

OPEN-AIR PREACHING TO-NIGHT

Evangelists to Be Heard on Corners of Fourth and Broad and Sixth and Broad—Special Services for Colored People.

A spirit of enthusiasm expressed in hearty singing characterized the beginning of the special service of prayer and fasting held yesterday at First Baptist Church as a part of the program of the workers engaged in the evangelistic campaign in Richmond and vicinity. Professor Dabolt was in charge of the song service, following the last lecture to the personal workers delivered by Evangelist E. V. Lamb, who has assisted Rev. George W. McDaniel, D. D. in the protracted meeting at the First Church, and has taught the class in personal work each day during the local campaign.

There will be no session of the Personal Workers' Conference on Monday morning, when the last combined service of all the churches, in the nature of a justice meeting, will be held at 10 o'clock in the First Church. An elaborate musical program will be given at that time by the visiting musicians, who have during the past two weeks attracted the special music in the various churches.

The pastors of the local Baptist churches will to-day have the evangelists and sinners at their guests at 1 o'clock in the afternoon at the Business Men's Club, and a social time of fellowship is anticipated.

Among the remarkable meetings held in connection with the revival campaign has been that one conducted by Rev. L. M. Roper at Heintzheim Memorial College this week, when practically every student who was not a professional student prior to the holding of these special services, made a public profession. At the meeting yesterday more than fifty young women consecrated their lives as missionaries for service on the home or foreign field.

MORE THAN 800 HAVE UNITED WITH CHURCHES

Reports made by pastors at the union meeting yesterday showed that more than 800 persons had united with the churches, participating in the simultaneous services.

"The spirit of contrition, prayer and praise should be experienced during such a day and at such a service as this," stated Rev. J. A. Scott at the jointly held meeting, which was held at the First Baptist Church. He implored his hearers to confess their lack of interest in lost souls, to grow as well as the building up of the visible kingdom. He said he greatly feared that many church members are not Christians. The neglect of known duty, uncharitable feelings, selfishness, neglect of daily prayer, neglect of instruction, backbiting, tattling, a vile temper, an unforgiving spirit, the refusal to do the known will of God, a lack of old-fashioned zeal, failure to pray for one's enemies, self-exaltation, jealousy, and being very among the things the speaker suggested that the great hosts of people in this city and everywhere who Evangelists Bruner, Wolfe, McManaway, Owen, Kendrick, Hekker and Carroll also made brief remarks, and led the congregation in special seasons of prayer, confession and thanksgiving.

OPEN-AIR SERVICES TO BE HELD TO-NIGHT

The campaign quartet was presented, and rendered several appropriate selections. They will be heard in the open-air services to-night, when Rev. O. Reese speaks at the corner of Fourth and Broad, and Evangelist E. D. King addresses the throng at Sixth and Broad Streets. S. W. Kendrick will conduct a street meeting for colored people at the corner of Second and Third Streets at 7:30 o'clock.

An immense mass-meeting has been arranged for the white people of the city, to be held in the City Auditorium to-morrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Rev. Weston will deliver the sermon, addressing, welcoming the new members, who have united with the different churches during the progress of the concerted campaign. Rev. J. L. White, of Mason, Ga., will deliver the sermon, consisting of vocal solos, duets and male quartets.

At the Ebenezer colored church a mass-meeting will be conducted under the auspices of the Colored Y. M. C. A. Rev. S. W. Kendrick is to be the speaker. Evangelists A. J. Copas, L. C. Wolfe, and Richard Carroll will address the throng. The service will also at 3:30 o'clock in the Calvary (Pulston) Church, First Church, and Fifth Street Church.

This morning at 10:30 o'clock Evangelists Palmer and Reynolds will conduct a service for the aged women in the Confederate Home. There will be services at the Randolph Street and Leigh Street Churches at the same hour to-day, especially in the interests of the young people.
